Good Morning!

I am sending this as documentation of our efforts to investigate and address the concern voiced to us via email from [redacted]. Attached is my correspondence to her. She never responded. I also sent hard copies of these emails to Mr. Garrett Hoerner, the attorney for the District.

Ms. [redacted],

At what school are you working as we do not have you in our system under this name. I will need to meet with you and your attorney as soon as possible... I will also have the Regional Superintendent and the District’s attorney at this meeting. We will need to do this promptly as I will need to contact the State Superintendent of Schools about this issue today... Dr. Saunders

Subject: ISAT testing information

I am writing this to inform you that at least one of your principals has suggested cheating on the ISAT test by breaking security for the test and having the teachers preview the test before the test was given. This was done so that teachers would have a chance to teach specific concepts that the students would see on the ISAT test.

This is not the first year this has been suggested and suggested in a 4th grade district wide meeting last year by a principal who was conducting the meeting.

I have contacted my lawyer in reference to protections under the law for this type of situation, which I do not feel comfortable in revealing but none the less needs to be dealt with in order to ensure future test scores are not compromised.

A copy of this email has been sent to the Illinois State Board of Education.

- East St. Louis East 1879
- teachers in the Dept.

- at least one of the principal's suggested to teachers to review the EA's before it is given to teachers concepts on the test to students
prior to testing

- this is not the 1st year this occurred and last year it occurred at a of school-wide meeting for the grade leaders

- witnessIs teachers @ they teachers get a speech from the principal immediately before test that the teachers should isten and agree that without knowing what is on the test.

- not sure whether teachers actually review the test since they take it once to teachers and these of the meeting

They received the e-mail from this person

They do not have a line in the proposal.

They responded back asking for proposals.
but have not yet a response back
Please respond and cc me for my records.

From: Please find below a copy of an email that was sent to the Superintendent and Assistant Superintendents of East St. Louis School District 189. I am writing this to inform you that at least one of your principals has suggested cheating on the ISAT test by breaking security for the test and having the teachers preview the test before the test was given. This was done so that teachers would have a chance to teach specific concepts that the students would see on the ISAT test. This is not the first year this has been suggested and was suggested in a 4th grade district wide meeting last year by a principal who was conducting the meeting. I have contacted my lawyer in reference to protections under the law for this type of situation, which I do not feel comfortable in revealing but none the less needs to be dealt with in order to ensure future test scores are not compromised. This following part was not revealed to the Superintendent or Assistant Superintendents because I am a teacher in the district and fear reprisal but if you have not figured it out through your number calculations I am pretty sure test scores have been compromised within the district in the past.

Within my building we get a speech from our principal right before the ISAT test each year that we should NEVER give a test without knowing what is on that test before hand. Within a short time the test are handed out, as instructed, to preview. Whether or not the test are previewed is another matter because the test are then taken to the individual teachers’ rooms. I work hard to try to get my students to do well on the ISAT test and am tired of feeling like I am looked upon as such a failure that I am being instructed to cheat on the test, that is my motive behind contacting you. I cannot even compare my scores to others because I do not know what the true scores are or would be if possible cheating is taking place. Do not try to contact me through the phone number, it is not a correct number because I do not want to be cross-referenced with district records to reveal my identity. If need be please contact me at my email address and I will respond in kind...
