Dear Illinois Educator,

Welcome to the 2018-19 school year and the third year of full implementation of PERA (the Performance Evaluation Reform Act) for the majority of our school districts. Your district’s performance evaluation process should now be fairly routine as it follows its cyclical timeline.

In this issue, we will provide you with reminders of the beginning of the year PERA requirements, answers to questions we were asked about who evaluates principals/assistant principals and the retraining timeline, evaluation cycle components, hallmarks of an effective evaluation system, suggested annual professional development activities for evaluators, and tools you can use to assess your district's performance evaluation system.

As PEAC members, we continue to work with you for continuous improvement and to make education in Illinois the best for our students and staff. Here's to a 2018-19 school year filled with growth and learning.

Please let us know if there are specific topics or questions you would like to see addressed in upcoming issues of the PERA Coach by using this link or the one at the bottom of this issue.

Sincerely,

The Performance Evaluation Advisory Council
As you schedule meetings and prepare written communications for the beginning of the year, remember the following requirements per part 50 of the Administrative Rules:

At the start of the school term (i.e., the first day students are required to be in attendance), the school district shall provide a written notice (either electronic or paper) that a performance evaluation will be conducted in that school term to each teacher affected or, if the affected teacher is hired after the start of the school term, then no later than 30 days after the contract is executed. The written notice shall include:

1) a copy of the rubric to be used to rate the teacher against identified standards and goals and other tools to be used to determine a performance evaluation rating;

2) a summary of the manner in which measures of student growth and professional practice to be used in the evaluation relate to the performance evaluation ratings of "excellent", "proficient", "needs improvement", and "unsatisfactory" as set forth in Sections 24A-5(e) and 34-85c of the School Code; and

3) a summary of the district's procedures related to the provision of professional development in the event a teacher receives a "needs improvement" or remediation in the event a teacher receives an "unsatisfactory" rating to include evaluation tools to be used during the remediation period.

Dear PERA Coach,

What are the licensure requirements for evaluating an assistant principal or principal? Does it have to be the superintendent that evaluates them?

Dear Reader,

We reference Part 50.300 and 105 ILCS 5/24 for the answer and are also checking with ISBE for clarification.

Based upon regulations, the evaluator can be a superintendent but can also be a designee or an individual appointed by the school board who holds a registered Type 75 State administrative certificate and who has completed the prequalification process and any retraining, as applicable. An exception to this is if the person being evaluated serves as both the principal and the district superintendent, then the local board of education shall appoint an evaluator who has a superintendent endorsement and who has completed the prequalification process/retraining, as applicable.

From Part 50.300 (click here for a link to Part 50.300 in its entirety)

. . . "The plan shall identify the person who will evaluate the principal or assistant principal. For a principal who also serves as the district superintendent, the evaluator shall be appointed by the local board of education, and the board's appointment shall not be the person whose performance as principal is being evaluated. The evaluator so appointed shall hold a current and valid professional educator license endorsed for superintendent issued under Article 21B of the School Code and have completed the prequalification process and any retraining, as applicable, required under Section 24A-3 of the School Code or Subpart E of this Part. . . ."

And from 105 ILCS 5/24 - (c) (click here for a link to Article 24A (Evaluation of Certified Employees)
"The evaluation for a principal must be performed by the district superintendent, the superintendent's designee, or, in the absence of the superintendent or his or her designee, an individual appointed by the school board who holds a registered Type 75 State administrative certificate."

Dear PERA Coach,
When do Evaluators need to take the retraining?

Dear Reader,
Evaluators who have taken the initial evaluator training (Growth Through Learning Modules or district developed) must complete retraining "once within the next renewal cycle" (105 ILCS 5/24A-3). The chart linked below provides a guide for determining when retraining must be completed. Note that retraining is connected to the renewal cycle of the license (PEL).

Re-training cannot be taken early. It must be taken in the NEXT renewal cycle following the initial pre-qualification training, or re-training credit cannot be awarded. Furthermore, both teacher and principal evaluators must have successfully completed the initial training before completing re-training. Re-training credit cannot be awarded without having first completed initial training. Click here for a chart showing sample timeline scenarios for retraining for evaluators.

The Performance Evaluation System follows a cycle that includes requirements for including Professional Practice and Student Growth components into the process. You can use the diagrams below to see what the evaluation cycle looks like for Tenured and Non-Tenured Teachers. Note that while a meeting is not required, many evaluators confer in the beginning of the school year with teachers who are being evaluated. They review/approve the teachers' growth plans, discuss their professional practice goals and/or optional self-evaluations that some districts incorporate into their systems.

Effective performance evaluation systems include on-going professional development. Opportunities should be provided for both evaluators and teachers to learn more about instructional practice components that impact student achievement.

It is important for evaluators within a district to implement the district's evaluation system and rate teachers in a consistent manner.

Evaluators should participate in activities that include the following suggested topics to help ensure consistency:

- Shared understanding of what effective practice looks like at each level of performance
- Evaluation practices/protocols including pre/post conference and observation procedures
- Inter-rater reliability/calibration activities (can view classroom observation videos found on the internet or filmed in district)
- Paired observations
- Peer review of evidence collected from each other's observation (can use the following sample rubric for rating the quality of the evidence collected)

Sample rubric to use for rating the quality of observation evidence collected as part of a peer review activity. Click here to see the full-size rubric.
Click here to view a full-size chart showing what evaluators should understand, demonstrate and provide teachers with and the expected outcomes when these components are in place.

When PERA is implemented effectively, the resulting performance evaluation system should look differently than most teacher evaluation systems of the past. Use the following chart to reflect upon the changes that have occurred in your school district. This topic could make for a meaningful conversation to have with your PERA Joint Committee.
