

High Scope Daily Planning Form:

Observation and Reflection: Many children are still engaged in the salon area taking on roles and signing up for “appointments.” It was noticed that girls are primarily playing in the area. “Barber shop” props will be added to salon to see if boys will join more in this area. To extend play and incorporate math into salon play, a cash register will be added. With increased interest in salon, we will begin webbing what children know and what children want to know to kick off the Hair salon project. Yesterday children developed rules for block play due to recent challenges in this area. Use small blocks at planning time to encourage cooperative play and station self in block area during work time to provide positive descriptive feedback when children are following block play rules. It was noted that K bumps into children or items during play time and seems to not be aware of his own body in space. Set up an obstacle course and do freeze dance during large group to support K in group movement activities.
