

When I'm Three Transition Guide Instructions

Welcome to the updated Transition Guide. We welcome families and professionals to use this concisely written guide. It can be used as a resource throughout the transition from Early Intervention to Early Childhood Special Education. We encourage you to use the corresponding section of the guide as you go through the transition process. It will help you prepare to participate as a family member or professional in the transition process.

The guide is broken into five sections -- Preparing, Evaluating, Services, Exiting, and Resources -- that together cover the steps of the transition process.

How you might use this guide:

Families

- Read through the entire guide to familiarize yourself with the transition process.
- We encourage you to use each individual section of the guide as you go through the transition process. The QR codes in the Resources section can be used at any time.
- Communicate with your service coordinator if you have any questions about the content of the guide.

Professionals

- Read through the entire guide to follow the process of transition.
- We encourage you to use the corresponding section of the guide as you go through the transition process. Encourage families to use the corresponding section of the guide as well. The QR codes in the Resources section can be used at any time throughout the process.
- Be ready and available to answer questions that families may have about the guide.

It is important to familiarize yourself with each section in order to actively participate in the process and engage in meaningful collaboration with families and school district representatives.
