

High School Students Taking Community College Courses School Year 2008-2009 Report

To comply with Section 2-3.144 of the Illinois School Code (formerly Section 2-3.142 and, before that, Section 3-14.27), as well as Section 10-21.4 or 34-8, high school and unit district superintendents are required to complete and submit to the Illinois State Board of Education an annual survey that documents the number of high school students taking community college courses and the names of the courses taken.

For school year 2008-2009, 485 high school and unit districts completed and submitted the High School Students Taking Community College Courses survey from May through September 2009. Among these reporting districts, 63 districts reported that no students took community college courses and the remaining 422 districts reported that 38,287 students took courses offered by the community colleges. Of the 635,444 high school students recorded in the 2008-2009 fall housing report, approximately 6 percent took courses offered by the community colleges. Appendix A provides data on the number of students, by gender and race, in each of the districts where students enrolled in community college courses.

High school and unit districts reported a total of 49 Illinois community colleges that offered courses to their high school students. The number of high school students who took courses from these community colleges ranges from 3 students at the Olive-Harvey City College in Chicago to 3,686 students at the Joliet Junior College in Joliet. Among the 49 community colleges, approximately 51 percent (25 colleges) offered courses to more than 500 high school students. Eight community colleges, including all seven Chicago city colleges and Morton College in Cicero, offered courses to fewer than 100 high school students during school year 2008-2009. Appendix B lists these community colleges, along with the number of enrolled high school students, by gender and race.

There were 28 community college courses taken by 38,287 high school students, with many of the students taking more than one course. Therefore, districts recorded 56,239 course enrollment counts for the 28 courses. The number of students taking each of these courses ranges from 26 students taking the interdisciplinary studies course to 12,849 students taking the computer and information science course. Approximately 71 percent (20 courses) of the 28 courses served more than 500 high school students each; two courses were taken by fewer than 50 students. Appendix C lists the course names and the number of enrolled high school students, by gender and race.
