Public schools receive designations based on multiple indicators. To calculate a score for an indicator, a school must have at least twenty students worth of data for that indicator. To receive a summative designation, the school must have at least 5 out of the 8 indicators, with at least one indicator being a Student Success and School Quality indicator. For more information about the summative ratings, and to see the 2019 business rules, please visit www.isbe.net/summative.

Note: Schools that serve grades 9-12, who also serve grades in the K-8 band receive two designations, and are listed separately on a dual designation list.
